Working with Grayson and Kevin was a really positive experience – they're easy to deal with, communicate clearly, and run a very professional operation. The build quality exceeded expectations. Everything was well thought-out, well executed, and finished to a high standard. It gave us a lot of confidence throughout the process. Based on our experience, we'd absolutely build with Grafraell again.

Hamilton

Where Opportunity Grows

Hamilton is New Zealand's largest inland city and one of the country's fastest-growing urban centres. With a population of approximately 165,000, a youthful demographic and continued household growth, the city is supported by strong underlying demand for housing.

As the major service and employment centre for the Waikato, Hamilton benefits from a diverse and resilient economy spanning agriculture, healthcare, education, technology and professional services. Its position at the heart of New Zealand's most productive agricultural region provides a strong economic base and supports ongoing employment and population growth.

Hamilton's strategic location within the Golden Triangle, together with excellent connections to Auckland, Tauranga and the wider Waikato, further strengthens its appeal. Significant investment in transport, infrastructure and the Ruakura inland port is enhancing the city's role as a major economic, logistics and employment hub.

For residential property investors, these fundamentals translate into a market underpinned by population growth, employment opportunities and sustained demand for quality housing — supporting Hamilton's long-term investment potential.
